? Q1: Do you agree with the broad areas, for the purpose of considering approaches to growth? Yes  No

Comments I strongly object to these proposals. There hasn't been sufficient information given.

Comments Housing is needed but not at this volume.

1. The first part of the report is devoted to a description of the experimental setup and the materials used. The second part describes the results of the measurements and the comparison with the theoretical predictions. The third part discusses the possible sources of error and the conclusions drawn from the experiment.

2. The experimental setup consists of a laser source, a lens, a sample, and a detector. The laser beam is focused on the sample, and the scattered light is collected by the lens and detected by the detector. The intensity of the scattered light is measured as a function of the scattering angle.

3. The results of the measurements show that the intensity of the scattered light increases with the scattering angle. This is in agreement with the theoretical predictions. The comparison of the experimental results with the theoretical predictions shows a good agreement.

4. The possible sources of error in the experiment are discussed. The most important sources of error are the uncertainty in the scattering angle and the intensity of the scattered light. The conclusions drawn from the experiment are that the theoretical predictions are in good agreement with the experimental results.

5. The report concludes with a summary of the results and a discussion of the possible future work. The authors would like to thank the funding agency for their support of this work.
